In Matthew's account of the Gospel, Jesus praises Simon and renames him "Peter" – the "rock" on which Jesus will build his Church. Hell's gates will not prevail against it. Peter will receive the keys of the kingdom of heaven; what he binds on earth will be bound in heaven. The Pharisees claimed these attributes for themselves. Jesus had said of them that they held the keys of knowledge but locked the gates; Peter is given the keys to open the gates of heaven. All goes well until, in the verses following today's reading, Jesus predicts that the Son of Man will suffer, die and rise on the third day. Peter breaks ranks to tell Jesus that this must not happen to him. Peter is told, "Get behind me, Satan!" A bit severe? Not when we examine the language closely. When Jesus says, "Get behind me", he uses the same Greek words he spoke when he called Peter, Andrew, James and John to "follow me". Using these words now must mean that Jesus is reminding Peter his role is to follow the Lord, not to lead him. But why call Peter "Satan"? Perhaps Jesus is reminding Peter that, had he succeeded in deflecting Jesus from going to the cross, Peter would have succeeded where Satan had failed at the temptations following Jesus' baptism. Peter would have joined Satan in trying to persuade Jesus to do his own will rather than his Father's.

This is also St Paul's feast. He certainly understood the importance of the cross, so let's allow him the last word: "the only thing I can boast about is the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom the world is crucified to me, and I to the world." The Living Word

First reading: Acts 12:1-11; Responsorial Psalm "From all my terrors the Lord set me free."
Second reading: 2 Timothy 6-8.17-18; Gospel: Matthew 16:13-19

Dear Parishioners, social distancing would have been a non-starter for St Peter and his fellow fishermen Apostles. The boats simply weren't big enough for the one-metre rule, never mind two! There were times when St Peter was well and truly in uncharted waters. I think many of us feel that is where we are too at this time. St Paul was no stranger to boats either. For him, boats transported him to his missions and on one occasion he was shipwrecked – Paul is our missionary preacher and writer of the Pastoral guidance which continues to direct the practice of our faith.

As a humble cleric, following in their mighty footsteps, where should I start? In a week where the goalposts have been moved a number of times, perhaps I should say "Let's start at the very beginning" (like Julie Andrews in Do-Re-Mi in The Sound of Music)! After so many weeks of lockdown the doors of the churches are beginning to open for private prayer. However, as we will soon realise, the churches that have re-opened for private prayer are not the same as those that closed their doors back in March. When Mass can be celebrated, there will be no public singing, and the Masses will be shorter. Neither Our Lady's or St Peter's will be ready to celebrate Mass in the immediate future.

What is important to realise, is that there is a great deal of hard work behind the scenes before parishioners return. For some churches it will be easier than others. At all times Fr Andy and I are aiming to ensure your safety. The advice at the moment is to continue with live-stream Masses only until we have all the necessary measures in place. Social distancing will affect the number of people we can accommodate in church at any one time. Everything needs to be carefully planned. The full text of the Bishops' Letter can be read on the website (www.catholicleamington.org.uk).

This weekend, as we are on the cusp of getting back to something resembling normality, we seek the intercession of Saints Peter and Paul – these great saints of our church – and look to their example and experiences to guide us. We can see how our faith has supported us through difficult times. It has grown and developed and even flowered in our re-discovery of the Mass, in the devotions which have become special to us. Of course, we all look forward to the time when we can return to Mass within our bricks and mortar churches but, in the meantime, we ask your prayers, generous spirit and goodwill to bear with us. Keep an eye on the parish websites for updates and information.

Happy Feast Day!

Every Blessing, Fr John.
